

STOCKBRIDGE!

He Wins on the First Ballot

By a Majority Over All Others.

Governor Luce Gets Twenty Votes

And Was Not in It for a Minute.

How the Caucus Settled the Case.

LANSING, Jan. 5.—The sensational fight is over and Senator Stockbridge is the winner.

He was elected on the first ballot, receiving 45 out of the 57 votes cast. Of the Kent county members Tatum and Anderson voted for Stockbridge and Fitch and Weeks for Luce. Barnard voted for J. C. Fitzgerald, but asked permission to change his vote over to Stockbridge, when he saw how the race was going.

The senator is kept busy receiving the congratulations of the friends who did such yeoman work for him.

BLDGGETT HAD LOTS OF FUN.
He Accepts the Inevitable—Palmer Won't Talk.

LANSING, Jan. 5.—Senator Palmer was closeted in his room with one or two confidential friends when the Herald correspondent tried to see him last night, and it was announced that he was not open to interviews. John Bldgett was met on his way from Luce headquarters, and in reply to a query he said: "We have met the enemy and we are there, but we're not out of the woods yet. It's just the same." Senator Stockbridge was too worn out with the burden of the campaign to talk. Say to your people that I am well and happy, was all the answer he would make to the reporter's inquiries.

Said William Alden Smith to THE HERALD correspondent at 2 o'clock this morning: "We are defeated, but we are still loyal. We took our chances in an open caucus and a viva voce vote and we were fairly beaten. We have no complaints to make. We believed that the election of ex-Governor Luce would have been satisfactory to a majority of the republicans of Michigan. The majority of the republican members of the legislature thought differently. We are all willing to accept the will of the majority, cherish no resentment and are still in line as republicans."

HOW IT WAS DONE.
The Stockbridge Men Had It Their Way From the Start.

STATE HOUSE, LANSING, Jan. 5.—Each of Branch called the caucus to order and immediately moved that George Wagner of Marquette be elected chairman. The motion was seconded, put and carried almost at the same breath. Senator Weiss rose excitedly and nominated Moore of Wayne before the chairman had time to announce the vote. A wrangle ensued in which Bishop and Ewing of Hillsdale exchanged a little legislative repartee, and Wagner was called to the chair, which he took amid loud applause. George H. Busse of Wayne was elected sergeant-at-arm. Senator Hopkins offered a resolution that in the election of United States senator the choice by viva voce vote, and the vote of a majority of the members present be necessary to elect. Mr. Ewing offered as substitute that the election of United States senator be made by a viva voce vote, and a majority of the republican members elect. The substitute was necessary to elect. The substitute was lost and the original motion prevailed by a vote of 30 to 5. This made a difference of one in the number of votes needed to elect Stockbridge. Senator McLaughlin moved the caucus proceed to the nomination of candidates for senator. Mr. Ewing tried to get in a resolution at the end of the motion, but the chair ruled him out of order, and the motion of Senator McLaughlin prevailed. Senator Clark arose in his seat and attempted to speak, but was forced to take the platform before the audience would allow him to begin. In an eloquent speech, in which he said that this is a business age and demands business men, the occupation of the orator is gone. This candidate was a man of the people, a self-made man and a man of the age. A man who would be respected, rich or poor. He was a plain man, civil and kind; not as talkative as some men perhaps, but a business man who had the interest of the state at heart. He then placed in nomination the name of Francis B. Stockbridge, which was received with tumultuous applause.

LUCE NOMINATED.
When the audience had sufficiently subsided Mr. Ewing of Hillsdale arose, and in response to the yell of "plaid form," he waved his hand majestically and said: "I represent a man of the people and will stand by the people on this floor." The sentiment was warmly applauded, and Mr. Ewing continued: "I am one of those who believe the interests of the state to be paramount to the interest of individuals. I live for the people's cause, and who would not shrink with pride in such a mission." [Applause.] The speaker continued with an address in which he was frequently interrupted by applause. At one point he remarked that the people unmade the party of Harrison and the statement was vigorously hissed. "I did not say they had unmade the republican party," explained Mr. Ewing. After a flow of dramatic eloquence which caught the galleries and was many times interrupted by applause, he nominated Cyrus G. Luce. A wild shout went up as the name of the speaker's lips, and Mr. Ewing remarked sarcastically: "I did not know the Stockbridge people had packed the galleries. Eloquent speeches for Mr. Stockbridge were made by Mr. Gordon of Midland, Mr. Bishop of Ludington, and Senator Hopkins. Mr. Chamberlain of Gogebic placed in nomination the name of Jay A. Hurlburt. The nomination was seconded by Mr. Fuller of Delta. Mr. Newkirk of Lake and Mr. Smalley of Wayne made stirring addresses in behalf of ex-Governor Luce. Mr. Linderman of Muskegon in a rambling dissertation on Luce, which finally became so painful that he was coughed off the floor. Mr. McGlinley of Saranac placed the name of Gen. John A. Hartsuff in nomination and Mr. Mall of Menominee seconded it. Speaker for Mr. Stockbridge were made by Mr. Gibson and Mr. Sumner of Detroit and Mr. Tatum of Grand Rapids.

Ordered the Ballot.
On motion of George G. Coiville, of Grand Traverse, the caucus then proceeded to a formal ballot. As the roll call proceeded it became evident that Senator Stockbridge would be the choice, and many who had first voted for other candidates arose and signed their desire to change their votes over to the Stockbridge ranks. The votes, as originally given on the first ballot call stood:

|------------------|----|
| Stockbridge..... | 45 |
| Luce..... | 29 |
| Hurlburt..... | 10 |
| Hartsuff..... | 2 |
| Randall..... | 2 |
| Spaulding..... | 2 |
| Fitzgerald..... | 1 |
| O'Donnell..... | 1 |

Senator Stockbridge was declared the unanimous choice of the caucus as the result of the viva voce vote.

LIET-GOVERNOR GIDDINGS.
Republican nominee for United States senator. A committee of three was appointed to wait on the nominee, ex-Governor Luce, Jay Hurlburt and George Hartsuff, and bring them to the hall.

The committee appointed to escort Senator Stockbridge and the other senatorial candidates into the presence of the caucus reported at 11:30 p. m. and entered the house with the newly nominated senator and Jay A. Hurlburt. The party was received with wild applause and when it had subsided the chairman reported that after deliberate search the committee had been unable to locate ex-Governor Luce or Gen. Hartsuff. Just at this moment the general was discovered in the gallery and was called down with cheers and laughter. After short speeches by each of the candidates, which were enthusiastically received, the caucus adjourned.

BEFORE THE VICTORY.
How the Side of the Contest Rose and Fell Yesterday.

LANSING, Jan. 5.—The biting winds that frisked about the streets of the capital city today had the effect of keeping most people indoors, but it was not long after worn out politicians had dragged themselves out of their beds in the crowded apartments of the hotels before it became apparent that there was something besides drifting snow in the wind. At a recent early hour in the morning the Luce headquarters were deserted, and it was whispered that that another anti-Stockbridge conference was in progress across the street in the Hurlburt hotel. Senator Stockbridge and his friends crowded their active campaign and appeared to be resting on their laurels and doing the Manchester act. The Luce party who have heretofore boasted loudly of the openness of their campaign, had found it necessary to retire into obscurity and reform its disaffected elements. William Alden Smith was the man to avert the threatened catastrophe for the ex-governor. By sheer force of eloquence he held the wavering line together. Three times when a crisis had been

AGAIN THE MAYBRICK CASE

Awful Scathing Which the Famous Woman Gives the English Prime Minister in an Open Letter.

BOSTON, Jan. 5.—Miss Abigail Dodge, "Gail Hamilton," has reopened her batteries in the Maybrick case, and tonight published a long sensational letter addressed to the Hon. W. E. Gladstone, the British prime minister. She says, in part: "I, in the name of God, arraign you, the head of the British government, for the murder of Florence Elizabeth Maybrick, now dying in the convict prison at Woking. The home secretary of the late government who began the torture, the late prime minister who sustained him in it, the present home secretary who continues in these are all as guilty as you, but I do not know whether they be."

SENATOR STOCKBRIDGE.

lieve in God. You believe in God. It is, therefore, because you believe in God that I invoke the witness of Almighty God while I charge you with the murder of the innocent who is perishing in Woking prison. We have been asking justice in the name of mercy. I ask for justice, and for justice, and I ask for justice in her own right and sacred name.

No Guns Allowed.
CHEYENNE, Wyo., Jan. 5.—Promptly at 10 o'clock today in the district court, the trial of the cattleman who invaded Johnson county was commenced. Judge Scott instructed the clerk to enter an order that all prisoners appear in court without firearms, and that this order shall apply to witnesses and spectators. The sheriff was directed to see that the order was strictly enforced. The case was then taken up. Of the forty-four defendants in the case only twenty-four were present.

Stockholders Can Investigate.
DENVER, Jan. 5.—An important decision in connection with a mining corporation has been made by Judge Hallett of the United States circuit court. The decision is, in brief, that any stockholder in a mining corporation has a right to enter the mine and make examinations of the property to his own satisfaction. The decision was made in connection with the suit of Captain Thatcher against the Mollie Gibson Mining company of Aspen.

Dixon Will Meet Smith.
NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Tom O'Rourke, manager for George Dixon the champion featherweight, has notified the backers of Solly Smith, who recently defeated John J. Hearst, that he will accept Smith's challenge to meet Dixon, but that the match must be for $5,000 a side and the largest purse offered; the men to weigh in at the ring side and the winner to take all.

Killed His Wife and Shot Himself.
ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 5.—A horrible murder and attempted suicide occurred here this afternoon. William H. Shattuck, 22 years old, shot his wife, 19 years old, three times in the head, killing her instantly. He then shot himself in the temple, but is alive and will probably live. The couple have only been married about three months, but have not lived happily together.

Swallowed His Ear.
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 5.—Edward Skinner, a negro laborer, was on trial in the criminal court this afternoon. In a fight with a man named Connor several weeks ago Skinner bit his antagonist's ear off. On cross-examination this morning Skinner testified that after biting off Connor's ear he swallowed it. Skinner will receive the full penalty.

More Gold for Europe.
NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—An order was received yesterday for $1,000,000 in gold to be shipped to Europe by vessels sailing Saturday. The news caused a decline in stocks. Exchange houses said that it was not unusual for gold to be sent to pay interest falling due on Jan. 1 on American securities held abroad.

Another Coward Victim.
LITTLE ROCK, Jan. 5.—Another death occurred at the penitentiary this morning, a total of seventeen since the disease started among the convicts. The last victim is Louis Fletcher, colored. The bacterial test begun by Dr. Giddings last Tuesday continues and may not be completed until tomorrow afternoon.

Again Mr. Michelson.
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Jan. 5.—A special from Knoxville says the story of the horrible killing of several persons as reported in the papers today is a fake of the first water. No such occurrence has taken place, and the people of that locality are at a loss to understand why the story was told.

Burtzell Had Much to Do With the Reconciliation of the Priest and the Church.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The Rev. Dr. Burtzell gave out this afternoon the following statement in regard to the Satolli-McGlynn incident: "It seems to me to be due on my part to Manager Satolli to say a few words in reference to the way in which he became connected with the case of the Rev. Dr. McGlynn. In 1888 he came as the representative of Pope Leo XIII to the formal organization of a Catholic university at Washington. EIGHT PERSONS KILLED.
A Bad Wreck on the Baltimore & Ohio, Which Burns.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 5.—Two trains collided on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, at Buena Vista, twenty-eight miles east of this city, today, and it is reported that eight persons were killed. It appears that a workman was standing on the track when a heavily loaded coal train ran into it. Both engines and a large number of cars were demolished. Some of the workmen were on the cars, while others were engaged at work near by.

The shock was so great that all the men were thrown from the cars, and they, with those on the ground, were buried under the wreck. Eight men are reported killed outright, and others still alive in the debris. Both trains took fire from the wrecked engines, and the flames spread so fast it was impossible to rescue those in the ruins. It was impossible to obtain the names of the victims.

Jones Dies of His Wounds.
ELGIN, Ill., Jan. 5.—Mahlon Jones, the young man who was accidentally stabbed by Rosa Schultz during an amateur performance in Hampshire the evening of December 16, died this morning at 1 o'clock. The immediate cause of his death was the bursting of a blood vessel in the lungs.

The accident which caused Jones' death was a peculiar one. Miss Schultz, who enacted the part of the heroine in the play, had a real dagger, which during rehearsal had been encased in tin sheets to prevent its being used in doing injury. During the public presentation of the play she was carried away with her part that she failed to notice that the sheath had in some way been removed. Jones told her the dagger had been encased in tin sheets to prevent its being used in doing injury. PARIS, Jan. 5.—M. Balthut, minister of public works of the cabinet of M. Delcayrolle, in 1890, was today brought before M. Francheville, examining magistrate, to confront Charles B. Leseppe and Marcus Fontane, imprisoned directors of the Panama Canal company. After an examination of two hours M. Balthut was ordered to prepare to appear before M. Francheville again before January 31. M. Balthut has been accused by M. Ferdinand Martin, a banker, who says he was employed by the Panama Canal company to influence deputies and of having received repeated payments from Joseph M. Francheville, a civil engineer and former member of the city council, also was arrested yesterday afternoon, having been examined by M. It is supposed that his evidence yesterday implicated M. Balthut and was the direct cause of the latter's examination today. The prevailing opinion is that M. Francheville's re-election as president of the chamber is certain.

HAMBURG, Jan. 5.—Upon the arrival here today of the Hamburg-American steamer Bohemia, interviews were had with several persons aboard of her in regard to her attempt to tow the disabled Canard liner, Umbria, and to the report that the towing hawser had been cut on board the Bohemia. Everybody aboard the steamer emphatically denied the report. They say that the hawser was cut when the steel hawser and several other lines from the Bohemia were made fast to the towed Umbria. Des Moines Will Drink.
DES MOINES, Iowa, Jan. 5.—Des Moines is to have a constitutional convention to meet at 10 o'clock tonight. A very stormy meeting of the council to night passed the disorderly house license bill by a vote of 6 to 3. The saloons will be licensed as restaurants, but will be protected in the sale of liquors. This is the system in use in the city of Iowa to evade the state prohibitory law, but heretofore sentiment in Des Moines has been too strong to permit anything of the sort. The mayor may veto the ordinance, but in case he does the aldermen will pass it over his veto.

Alive in His Coffin.
TOLEDO, Jan. 5.—Clay Hopper, a 17-year-old boy, who has been ill with dropsy of the heart for several months, was supposed by his family and physicians to have died, and his funeral was set for last Friday. When all was in readiness, the corpse showed signs of life and the funeral was thereupon declared off. The boy has remained in a comatose condition since that time, and although the body is warm, there are no other signs of life. The physicians are puzzled over the strange case.

This Is Too Much.
CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—Chicago is to have a gigantic elephant, larger than the one at Coney Island. A syndicate will begin work on the new animal building to be located near the fair grounds, in a short time. The cost is estimated at $250,000, when completed. The animal will be lighted by numerous windows and an abundance of electric lights.

No New Typhus Cases.
NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—No new cases of typhus fever were posted at the office of the health board this morning. There were three deaths during the morning among the patients on North Brother island. Dr. Roberts said this morning that he believed the disease to be now under control. The watch on the lodging houses will be more rigid than ever.

Dead in Bed.
BEAVERHEAD, Neb., Jan. 5.—The horse of C. W. Dripe at Wynmore was found last night and the bodies of Dripe and Mrs. Albion were found dead in bed. Indications and evidence at the corner's inquest show they had been dead since December 3. The jury found that death was caused from coal gas escaping from a stove.

Printing House Burned.
CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—Fire which broke out at 5 o'clock tonight in the Onalisk Printing company's plant at Tenth and Douglas streets nearly gutted the building. The contents of the lower floors were damaged by water. Loss on building, $250,000; insurance, $5,000; on contents, loss, $50,000; insurance, $40,000.

liner in tow, but in the evening a violent storm set in. Both vessels pitched heavily and the strain upon the towing lines was tremendous. At 10 o'clock at night it was snowing heavily, and at that hour the starboard line and the port hawser parted. The break was not close on board, but a considerable distance from the Bohemia. Many feet of the hawser was left trailing astern when the break occurred and this fact effectually disproves the statement that the hawser was cut on board the Bohemia. According to those interviewed, the commander of the Bohemia would have been only too glad to tow the Umbria into port, and had his lines not broken he certainly would have done so. The breaking of the lines was due to the strain upon them, and not to their having been cut on the Bohemia, and statement to the contrary is not based upon knowledge of the facts.

Canada Is Satisfied.
OTTAWA, Jan. 5.—Captain Holmes, who has been working in Michigan for some months as an officer of the interior department, arrived here today to receive instructions regarding next season's work. Mr. Holmes said that on the whole there is every reason to feel satisfied with the extent of reparation movement during 1892. Speaking only for the state, which he knew from personal experience, about 100 families have emigrated from Michigan to Canada northwest, and the prospects of the coming season, he says, are bright.

Oceans of Beer.
CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 5.—James Naser, a financier of New York City, is here for the purpose of securing concessions from the Mexican government for the establishment of extensive breweries in the principal cities of the republic. Mr. Naser states that he has negotiated for English capitalists with the Mexican government for the purpose of building breweries in San Francisco, Denver, Baltimore, Detroit, Rochester, Portsmouth, N. H., and Newark. These purchases involve the expenditure of more than $8,000,000.

Four of One Family Missing.
ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Jan. 5.—William Coyle, his wife and two children, one a boy of 5 years and the other a girl of 8 months. Coyle is a horse trainer, and had charge of a stable at the exposition grounds. Two weeks ago his sister came out from Pennsylvania to visit him, and the couple had a dispute. Coyle took the babies in a sleigh, with the mother's consent, saying she would have them baptized at St. Patrick's church. She has not yet returned. Coyle set out yesterday morning to search for the missing ones and he has not been heard of since. Fr. Grant of St. Patrick's states that no one of the description of Miss Coyle came to see him to have the baptismal rites performed. The affair is shrouded in mystery.

She Killed Her Lover.
NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—A terrible tragedy occurred in the little town of Whitehall, N. Y., on Monday, when Nora Bell, 25 years of age, shot and killed her sweetheart, Edward Smith, aged 21, during a quarrel. The couple were guests at a New Year's celebration at the home of Eugene Courter. After a time those at the celebration noticed that the couple had disappeared. They thought but little of it for a time, but when two sharp explosions were heard a few minutes later, there was a rush out of doors. There was a panic in a moment and there was ample reason for it. Outside the house, just beyond the porch line, lay the bodies of both dead, Nora clutching a revolver in her hand.

The Joint Session Hears Them.

Governor Rich Surveys the State

In a Clear and Bright Document.

Proceedings in the Legislature.

LANSING, Jan. 5.—The senate and house convened in joint session this afternoon to listen to the reading of the messages of the outgoing and incoming governors. Lieutenant-Governor Giddings presided over the session and appointed committees to wait upon the governors, the judges of the supreme bench and the state officers. The members rising as the delegation passed down the aisle. The governors were seated on the speaker's platform. The clerk then read the messages, which are here reproduced:

GOVERNOR RICH'S MESSAGE.
A Comprehensive Treatment of Public Questions.
Gentlemen of the Senate and House of Representatives:
In compliance with the time honored custom I respectfully submit for your consideration the following suggestions and recommendations:
Good Roads.
This important question is now attracting widespread attention. Its importance can hardly be overestimated. In these days of stern competition farmers cannot afford to stand a four months' mud embargo on the getting of their products to market, nor can they afford to take one-half the weight they would with good roads at other times. What is true of farmers is true of all who do business with farmers, and have occasion to use the roads either for business or pleasure.

My predecessor, in his inaugural address, strongly recommended that some action be taken for the improvement of the highways, which took form in the appointment of a highway commission, whose report will be laid before you, and of which I ask your careful consideration. While it is possible you may not conclude to adopt the recommendations made by the distinguished members of the highway commission, yet it is hoped that the information given and the recommendations made will result in such constitutional amendments and legislative enactments as will, in the immediate future, result in good roads.
